Governor says Congress may hold off further cuts to state National Guard

By Spec. Rich Adams

A grass-roots movement within the Michigan Army National Guard apparently has helped forestall further cuts to the state's military organization, Gov. John Engler said Friday.

Engler, speaking to a group of more than 7,500 state Army National Guard members training at Camp Grayling, said Guard members who have written letters to Congress might have saved the state from deep cuts in its military staffing.

He cited as an example a letter written by an enlisted man to his congressman. The letter, written by Spec. Anthony J. Alversteffer of Hart, stressed community dependence on the Guard during recent riots in Los Angeles.

"The National Guard is relied upon in emergency situations," Alversteffer wrote to U. S. Rep. Guy VanderJagt, R-9th District. "For example: Floods, tornadoes, and especially riots, like in Los Angeles. This added relief is much needed."

Alversteffer, a member of the 1436th Engineering Company based in Montague, also stressed community service projects the Guard provides, such as building roads and playgrounds.

Engler said the letter-writing campaign is needed to keep Michigan Guard units fully staffed. In April, the Pentagon targeted Michigan's 46th Brigade for relocation to Illinois by 1995. The 4,500-member brigade is based in Wyoming, MI.

"Unfortunately, even if we don't get cut this year, we could find ourselves fighting this issue again next year around budget time," Engler said. "If you lose interest, patience or motivation, Congress could lose interest too."

"The challenge we're facing in these transitory times have to be met, head-on, with determination and unshakable esprit de corps," Engler said.

The governor was speaking to the troops in his capacity as commander in chief of the Michigan National Guard. Friday's speech followed a parade and military pass-in-review to mark the mid-point of this year's training session. Most of the state's Army National Guard members began their annual two-week training at Camp Grayling this year on June 13 and will complete it by June 27.

There are currently 11,643 men and women in the Michigan Army Guard. There are 457,000 Guard members nationwide.

School Board considers comprehensive community plan to enter 21st century

The Crawford AuSable School District Board of Education will vote at its July meeting on a bond proposal which—if passed in September—will help move the entire district into the 21st century.

In a special open meeting on June 22, a group composed mainly of board members and administrators met with architects to review the proposed project before voting at the July 13 board meeting.

"This is not just a bond issue," said Chris Duncle, school board president. "It's something for everyone."

The buildings are not just for the kids. The community will also have better access to the facilities."

Regarding the proposal, which includes renovation of the existing four schools and construction of a new high school, Superintendent Kent Reynolds said, "We're spending to take care of everyone. It would allow for a 20% growth rate and spending on technology that would make our students competitive with anyone."

Highlights of the proposal, called "Planning for the 21st Century," include:

•Improved technology prepares students for the 21st century.

1. Computer technology provides students with the job skills, training and experiences necessary for employment in the coming century.

2. An integrated communications system—within and between buildings—enables students to easily access computer software, videos and CD Rom technology.

•Frederic Elementary School becomes a K-4th grade school.

1. The old section is turned into a media center that could become a combined township/school facility.

2. The former library becomes office space for staff and district and I.S.D. specialists.

3. Larger classrooms are formed by moving walls.

4. A second locker room—to provide men's and women's facilities for community use—and a storage room are added.

5. A paved parking lot is installed.

6. Playground renovation—including a hard-surface play area, ball fields and reorganization of existing equipment—takes place.

•Grayling Elementary School becomes a K-2nd grade school.

1. The front of the building changes to face Plum Street to improve traffic flow.

2. New parking areas are installed.

3. Eight hundred square feet of classrooms becomes 11-1200 square feet. Larger classrooms are formed by moving walls.

4. The center section—presently a library and eight classrooms—becomes a large media center with computers, art and music classrooms, office, conference and storage space for staff members and itinerant personnel, and a parents/visitors lounge.

5. A new activity and physical education center is added for student and community use.

•Grayling Middle School becomes a 3rd-5th grade school.

1. The majority of renovation goes to site changes. The district will attempt to purchase private property to develop a ball field and playground area.

2. Only minor renovation (to accommodate smaller children) is needed for the interior, as the building was recently renovated.

3. Group toilet facilities are added on the ground floor.

•Grayling High School becomes a middle school (grades 6-8).

1. A new, identifiable entrance is created.

2. The media center is redesigned to emphasize technology.

3. A commons area/cafe/terrace is built.

4. Two full-size computer laboratories are created, for teaching and for student use.

5. The obsolete heating and ventilating systems are replaced.

•A new high school (grades 9-12) is built to the northwest of the existing high school on school-owned property.

1. A compact, two-story building for 800-900 students is created.

2. A large gymnasium with three playing areas is created for increased student and community use.

3. Access to computers is greatly increased, both in computer labs and in classrooms.

4. A football field with a track and ball fields are added.

5. The outdoor facilities and kitchen facilities are shared between buildings.

County seeks funding to set millpond level

By Lori Swarthout

The county board of commissioners directed their ways and means committee to look into methods of funding preliminary studies for establishing a legal millpond lake level.

Present at the June 17 commissioner meeting were road commission manager/engineer Richard Young and prosecutor John Huss. Young indicated that he had received eight proposals for the City Dam Engineering Study ranging in value from $2,450 to $21,000.

Young recommended keeping five of these proposals and taking no further action unless the board receives a petition for establishment of an assessment district. Among the firms bidding, Young indicated in his report that Williams-Osminski represents the best combination of experience and price at $2,950.

Young also indicated that he did some preliminary studies of a potential special assessment district but would prepare no maps or schedules until further advised by the board.

Young indicated to members of the AuSable River Protection Association present that the most powerful tool they could have against the D.N.R. in fighting any dam removal would be a legal lake level.

Prosecutor John Huss told commissioners that there was only two ways a legal lake level could be established, either by a petition of two thirds of the voters affected by the lake to the board of commissioners, who would then have to present the petition to circuit court for consideration, or by the commissioners, on their own, requesting the court to establish a legal lake level.

Huss went on to explain that anyone who benefits from action changing the lake can be assessed for their share of the costs of any changes or maintenance. Ultimately, the D.N.R. determines who benefits, although circuit court may intervene and alter the D.N.R.'s definition of benefit.

In response to continued public concern, the commissioners agreed to invite Governor John Engler to Crawford County to see first hand the effects of D.N.R. action and to urge him to limit the D.N.R.'s power.

COMPUTER SYSTEM

In other significant action, Commissioner Robert Smock made a motion to purchase $140,000 of basic equipment to get I.B.M.'s AS 400 mainframe computer system up and running in the county. McLachlan amended this motion to specify that the funds come from the proceeds of the sale of the landfill. The motion passed unanimously.

Smock said the move was "a significant step in planning for the future. I think it's great to do so rather than make decisions under duress." It is expected that improved efficiency, especially in district and probate courts, will save the county money. The new system will allow the county to delay hiring additional personnel that would otherwise be needed to handle ever increasing case loads. Everyday office functions such as budgeting, payroll, accounting, and receiving will also be automated.

RECYCLING

Callewaert indicated that according to the last meeting of Michigan Northern Counties-MAC II northern Michigan was falling behind in recycling efforts, potentially forcing counties and townships to take more responsibility for this.

OTHER BUSINESS

Smock indicated that the fish hatchery is doing well this year, and that plans are underway to compile a county wide directory of recreational opportunities available in Crawford County. Trout will again be planted in the children's section of the East Branch of the AuSable near the hospital.

Trash pickup continues in Frederic

Frederic Township officials have rescinded the order halting trash pickup at the end of June and instead will ask an attorney to draw up a ballot proposal for a millage to pay for the service.

At a regular meeting on June 9 and again at a special meeting on June 16, a packed crowd in the township hall insisted that the officials continue the trash pickup. They also expressed an overwhelming preference for a millage to pay for the service.

Township Supervisor Harold Mertes told the audience at both meetings that the decision to halt the program was made only to evoke response from citizens. He said that other options had been explored before the closure had been decided upon.

When asked how much the program would cost, he replied that it would be about $30,000 per year. Discussion at the special meeting involved four possibilities to obtain the necessary funds. A special assessment district plan would not include non-residents, the audience learned. Other plans suggested in a letter by township attorney Douglas Dosson included a contract by the township directly with a garbage collector and a fee to all users.

Only the millage proposal seemed to fit the intent of the citizens. The motion to rescind the closing order had been made at the June 9 meeting and during the special meeting, Mertes recommended to the board that they either make a decision to discuss the ballot question at a future meeting or decide to make the decision to discuss the ballot question at a future meeting or decide to make the decision at the meeting now to hold a special election.

Dial 9-1-1 for reporting county fires

Effective July 1, the Grayling City and Township Fire Department emergency number of 348-2000 and the Berwer Creek Township Fire Department emergency number of 348-2222 will be discontinued. To report a fire anywhere in Crawford County in the 275, 348, or 821 exchange you should dial 9-1-1.

Magistrate

Appearing before Magistrate Jean Callewert were:

Edward James Guenette of Lansing, plead guilty to a charge of Fish Without A License, and was fined $65 plus court costs.

Frederick Allen Pindzia of Canton, plead guilty to a charge of Unattended Fishing Lines, and was fined $40 plus court costs.

The board decided to pass a resolution holding a special election. Mertes then added that Dosson would be asked to draw up a ballot resolution including the properties that would be taxed, the length of the taxable period, and the number of mills to be requested.

Mertes indicated that another special meeting should be called to discuss the actual ballot proposal. He said that the meeting date would be well advertised so that all voters in the township would be informed. The board then decided to continue the charge to users of $5 per month until the entire matter of millage is resolved.

LET'S SET THE RECORD STRAIGHT - ONCE AND FOR ALL!

In direct response (and the only response) to Mr. McLachlan's statements concerning my article of Thurs. June 4th published in the Avalanche, I heartily concur that mud slinging, half-truths and innuendos have no place in an election. The June 4th article was based upon DIRECT QUOTES made by Mr. McLachlan to the Avalanche reporter in 1989. I did not speak those words, Mr. McLachlan did! If they are half-truths, mudslinging or innuendos, Mr. McLachlan is the perpetrator, not I!

The portion of the article about the enormous tonnages of garbage proposed by C.E.S. for hauling into Crawford landfill was taken directly from an Avalanche ad placed by C.E.S. themselves. I did not compile or fabricate them!

The comment about the Supreme Court decision of June 1, 1992 was quoted from the Detroit Free Press on June 2, 1992 and since released to every major media in the country. I do not argue with Supreme Court decisions, I LIVE BY THEM!!!

My comments regarding Mr. McLachlan "going to Gaylord to sign the C.E.S. document" was again quoted from the Avalanche. They were HIS quotes, not MINE!

As for the commitment concessions made in the document signed by Mr. McLachlan, giving up major concessions on behalf of Crawford County to C.E.S., perhaps Mr. McLachlan should have studied and examined the document for several hours, as I later did, before signing away much of Crawford's future for only 32% of the 3.8 million dollars sale price as opposed to Otsego County's 68% of the price. Anyone who knows me or has worked with me in any capacity, is aware that I research thoroughly each statement or document before I comment on them, much less have them printed publicly. The entire published article was carefully reviewed by legal counsel prior to printing.

Mr. McLachlan has invited the public to "stress the positive issues of his past four years in office and his commitments to you." I, too, would like to know exactly what those "positive issues" were. PARTICULARLY THE PRIVATE SALE OF HIS MILLTOWN REFUSE BUSINESS TO A COMPANY DOING BUSINESS WITH THE COUNTY WHILE HE WAS A COMMISSIONER. He also accepted a five year job as a "Consultant" with the company currently doing business with the County. Who does Mr. McLachlan represent, the people who elected him to represent Crawford County or the company that provides him with a regular paycheck for the next 5 years? This dual representation is presently under scrutiny at State level as a legitimate "conflict of interest" issue (according to newspaper articles in several major newspapers, T.V. interviews and elsewhere.) This is not mud slinging, half-truths or innuendoes on my part. I read the papers too!

In spite of 4 years of bickering, accusations, divisive actions, personal animosities that has made Crawford County Commission an ineffective, divided part of county government, Mr. McLachlan requests that the voters of District 4 again elect him to that same Commission for two more years. CRAWFORD COUNTY NEEDS NEW LEADERSHIP AND A BOARD THAT CAN WORK TOGETHER!!

The voters of District 4 will make this choice on TUESDAY, AUGUST 4TH, and, based upon what has occurred (or not occurred), the lack of decorum and professionalism displayed by the present Commission, they will realize that Crawford County needs help NOW, and the majority of the present Commission, including Mr. McLachlan, cannot or will not provide that leadership required.

YOUR VOTE FOR GARLAND (BUD) JOYCE, WHO HAS HAD EXPERIENCE AS AN EFFECTIVE COMMISSIONER AND LEADER will help return Crawford County to sound, professional policies, decisions and actions that are badly needed NOW.

Trout streams can't be constructed; ponds can be

I have been a professional aquatic biologist since 1973, when I received a master's degree from Michigan State University. My professional career has led me from Michigan to Ohio, Pennsylvania, Florida, and back to Michigan.

Over the years, I have studied the impacts of various human activities on aquatic environments. My career has brought me in contact with thousands of individuals who either consciously or unconsciously were involved in activities that were altering aquatic environments. A few examples are the release of heated water from electricity generating stations into the Great Lakes and various rivers, numerous dredging projects filling or otherwise destroying marsh areas which were used for fish spawning and fish food production, and the construction of dams to create ponds.

While I do not have a degree in psychology, I have learned much about human nature after dealing with so many people. The public strongly supports regulations that protect the environment. They are willing to pay the additional cost of products and materials that are produced in an environmentally acceptable manner. However, there is a strong tendency by individuals to not understand or appreciate the impacts of their own actions on the environment. All too frequently, when an individual is told they can not do a particular activity because it would be detrimental to the environment, they are offended. Now they feel the government has gone too far in regulating individual rights. The general attitude I've encountered is, "Regulate the others but not me!"

This attitude is evident in Grayling with the removal of the Salling Dam. The dam should have never been constructed in the first place and under current state law could not be built. Although the pond was scenic, it existed at the expense of a portion of the AuSable River and the fish and other wildlife that normally would exist there. To be sure, some waterfowl habitat was lost with the dam removal, but such habitat can be constructed elsewhere. State and Federal resource agencies, as well as private organizations, are doing that. But not on high quality rivers. Resource managers can not create new trout streams. They can, however, right some of the wrongs of years past. Removal of Salling Dam was such an action.

I'm sure most of the people who owned property that formerly bordered Salling Pond believe in environmental protection and restoration. If they would have read about a dam being removed on another trout stream elsewhere in the state, they would have thought it was a good idea.

However, now they are directly affected and it hurts. Gone is the scenic value of the pond, gained is trout habitat and cool water for the rest of the river system. A trade-off in favor of the resources that we all support until we have to make such sacrifices as the people on the former Salling Pond.

We should all learn that environmental protection is obtained at a price that is more than mere dollars and cents. As an individual who has worked with our resources over the years, I know professionally the removal of Salling Dam was best for the resource. But I can also understand the frustrations of the affected property owners who must live with the resource in its more natural state.

Frosty

New fund will help injured animals

When the man called about Frosty he said he believed the dog was injured or ill. A deputy was sent out to pick him up but Frosty was afraid the deputy would cause him further pain, so he growled. Believing the dog was mean, the officer told the man to do whatever he wanted to him.

The man couldn't bring himself to end Frosty's life, so he fed him. The starving dog now knew he was not an enemy who would cause him further pain and allowed the man to touch him. Frosty was brought to the shelter the following morning.

The man thought perhaps a coyote had caused the injuries to Frosty as he had seen one in the area. Whatever it was, Frosty had many puncture wounds all over his body. He let me examine him without a growl, kissing me constantly. The wounds were not new, he had been suffering for at least a week with no one to help him. His left leg was broken at the knee, his right foot was swollen from porcupine quills now deeply imbedded in it, and he was extremely emaciated (starved).

On the first day Frosty's broken leg was wrapped, many quills were removed, he was fed, and allowed to just rest. Frosty was thankful for a soft bed and gentle hands upon him. He knew he was now safe in this strange new place.

The next day Frosty was allowed out to lie where he wanted and greet the people who visited the shelter. Everyone liked him, he even whined each time I left his sight.

Frosty was taken to the vet for further examination of the broken limb. Dr. Mesack immediately gave Frosty a DHL parvo as the deadly parvovirus is running rampant now and in Frosty's weakened condition he would be extremely susceptible. An x-ray showed the leg was broken, but not from the fight as I had believed. Frosty had suffered this injury at the hands of man. He had been shot, yet he still trusts people and greets everyone with a smiling face and wagging tail! Frosty's leg had begun to heal so Dr. Mesack splinted it.

He will now wander the animal shelter greeting each visitor until his leg is healed. A home will be found for him once his body is repaired and some meat is on his bones. But, who was this person who would wound this dog and let him wander the woods in pain? Did he have the fight after he was shot because of the wound and the blood? Probably. Did he try to eat the porcupine because he knew he could not survive without food? Again, probably. Frosty cannot answer these questions. He only knows he is now in a place where he is loved, cared for, and sheltered from further abuse. He is a happy dog.

Many animals come to the shelter with broken limbs, eyes out of their sockets, etc. Many of the injuries are at the hands of humans who are not very humane. These animals used to be killed because there was no money to care for them.

Thanks to some generous people there is now a fund to pay for sick and injured animals who need help. This fund has been dubbed the CARE FUND and Frosty will be its new representative. The man who brought Frosty to us left $20 for his care. He didn't have to do that. After all, Frosty's just another stray whose owner didn't care enough to look for him or keep him home. He had a collar, but nothing to tell who owned him. I don't know how they could help but miss such a sweet dog.

Nearly a thousand strays will pass through the shelter doors this year, not even a quarter of them will be claimed by their owners. We are a disposable society. We not only throw away diapers, our old people and pets are also disposable. I expect our children will someday be disposable, too.

If you would like to make a donation to the FROSTY CARE FUND send check to PO Box 869, Grayling, MI, 49738. The many disposable pets who pass through the shelter door with injuries will thank you. And please, if your pet is missing, make 348-4117 the first place you call. Don't wait several days or weeks — do it first.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

I know that to the children who recently got out of school that the next three months seems to be almost forever. I can remember when that final day of school seemed to signal almost an eternity of joyful summer days before we had to return three whole months from then. But somehow before we knew it, the summer had passed and it was time to go back to school. I know that I always felt I had been short-changed somehow when it was time to go back to school and our three months had zipped by so fast. All those things I had planned to do somehow never seemed to get done before that old school bell called us back to another eternity of days to spend in the classroom.

It still seems strange that although we know that time passes in measured seconds, minutes, hours, and days, that at times it seems to drag so slowly, and at other times it rushes by like a rocket ship on its way to the stars. I know from personal experience that ten seconds spent in the arms of a beautiful woman and ten seconds spent on the hurricane deck of a bucking bronco bear no relationship as far as elapsed time goes.

Still I can look back on my life and some of those memories from fifty plus years ago seem as close as yesterday. Though clocks and calendars and such measure time in a cold mechanical way, our mind's measurement of time is much more enjoyable. Our mind can remember way back to those days of childhood and make them seem so close it is hard to believe all those years have passed since then.

I was very awed to find out that we have a lady living at Mercy Manor who has passed her 109th birthday. That lady Flora Bell Curren has in her lifetime seen more changes than had previously occurred in the entire history of mankind. Just think, the battle at the Little Bighorn where Gen. Custer made his last stand was just seven years before her birth. The wagon trains were still rolling westward when she was a child. Since her birth, think of the changes in transportation, communication, and medical science she has seen. I wish to add my belated Happy Birthday to the many Flora Bell has received and I stand in awe of a lifetime that has encompassed so many changes.

For several Sundays now the wife and I have made the journey up to the Hapdays Campground and Diner for our Sunday brunch. We have always received excellent service and great food there. John and Judith always make you feel welcome, so why not stop in and meet a couple of real fine people and enjoy some of their good food. It is located between Grayling and Frederic on Old 27.

Almanack

Richard Milliman

Campaign issue is born

A KEY CAMPAIGN issue emerged with the loss of the balanced budget amendment in congress in early June.

The question fell just short of the necessary two-thirds vote in the House. More members wanted it than didn't; the vote was 280-153. But that was nine votes short of approval.

There were exceptions, but generally Republicans favored the amendment and Democrats opposed it. Thus was born a genuine campaign issue for both sides in this campaign year.

Republicans — or those who favored the amendment — will shout that they were for balancing the budget, while their opponent, were not. This implication is clear: One side favors responsible government, the other doesn't.

Democrats — or those who oppose the amendment — will shout just as loud that they were in favor of protecting the sick and the elderly and the needy. The implication here is clear, also; one side wants to help the people, while the other only thinks about dollars.

The truth, of course, is somewhere in between, as is so often the case in political arguments.

THE TRUTH ALSO is that the greatest value of a balanced budget amendment is political value.

If those in charge really wanted to balance the budget, they wouldn't need a constitutional provision to make them do it.

President Bush is one of the biggest boosters of the amendment. However, he's been president almost four years now and hasn't proposed a balanced budget yet.

The blame doesn't flow all one way, however. Main proponents of the balanced budget amendment this time around are a couple of Democrats — Rep. Charles Stenholm of Texas and Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois, who has promised to bring the issue forward again next year.

Yet Democrats have controlled the legislative process almost exclusively since World War II, and there haven't been many balanced budgets in all that time, either.

There's enough blame for what's been going on in Washington for both parties to share.

This year's deficit is $400 billion. The national debt now stands at $4 trillion. That didn't happen overnight.

THE MICHIGAN VOTE — as usual, the Michigan delegation on the balanced budget amendment went pretty much down party lines.

Democrats voted against it; Republicans voted for it.

The lone exception was Rep. Bob Carr, a Democrat, who is running for reelection in a district that has been changed quite a bit from where he won two years ago.

Mr. Carr has been moderating his voting record from the usually liberal trend he followed when he first went to Congress a dozen years or so ago. His vote for the balanced budget amendment is another example of his present tenor.

That may be the main reason why down-the-line Democratic leadership in Michigan is not especially thrilled with Mr. Carr's performance during the last few years.

He could have a tough fight to return to Congress this year. Dick Chrysler of Brighton is the leading Republican possibility against Mr. Carr. Mr. Chrysler once ran for governor of Michigan, and is another one of those self-made millionaires who is not reluctant to spend a bit of his savings account to accomplish personal political goals.

NUTS AND JOLTS — Some column closing nuts and jolts from Hod Shewell:

—An elected official is sworn in, and cussed out.

—Two pints can make one cavort.

—Beefeaters are getting a bum steer if they pay a lot for a tough steak.

—Marriage vows today should read "until debts do us part."

—The best labor saving device ever invented is money.

Warbler's Association helps Lovells Fire Department

By Lori Swarthout

Frank Robles, manager of the Warbler's Association in Lovells Township, presented Lovells Township fire chief John Doby with a check for $500 to be used as the department needed.

Robles indicated that his group, comprising about 800 members, was looking for a way to get more involved in the community. Impressed by the positive citizen involvement with the new First Responder program in Lovells and concerned for the safety of summer residents, the Warbler's board of directors, of which Robles is a member, decided to direct their efforts towards the fire department.

Increased tax assessments, sale of mature timber from the group's common property, and miscellaneous fundraisers sponsored by the non-profit association created the surplus revenue which the directors wished to use to benefit the local community.

According to the fire chief, the department will most likely use the donation to purchase badly needed communication equipment. The Warbler's Association hopes to make such community involvement an ongoing activity and is looking into the possibility of similar donations on an annual basis.

Social Security battles misleading advertisers

By Charles Tinsley

Social Security Representative

The Social Security Administration is increasing its efforts to alert the public to misleading advertisers who use Social Security as a "come on" for profit making and fundraising ventures.

"Social Security is actively working to protect the public from this fraud and deceit."

For example, some advertisers offer to obtain Social Security numbers for newborns, to notify Social Security of name changes for brides, or to obtain an earnings and benefit statement for fees ranging from $10 to $50 or more. But all of these services can be obtained for free by calling Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. any business day.

Particular significance to the public should be an increased awareness of what unscrupulous marketers could do with the confidential information they solicit in the form of an SS-5 (Application for a Social Security card).

"It's hard for me to believe that consumers would send the personal information needed for a Social Security number or a replacement card to an anonymous post office box. The information on a completed form is sufficient to establish credit, apply for a loan, buy a car, and conduct many other financial transactions."

Other advertisers deceive the public by suggesting that the future of Social Security is in jeopardy. Their direct marketing efforts mislead people, especially senior citizens, into thinking that they must respond with a donation or membership fee to avoid losing their Social Security benefits or Medicare coverage.

Anyone who receives misleading information about a "Social Security" service from a private organization seeking payment for the service should send the entire solicitation (including the envelope) to the Social Security Administration, Office of Public Affairs, Misleading Advertising, PO Box 17740, Baltimore, Md., 21235. You may also drop this entire solicitation off with your local Social Security Representative at the Crawford County Building on the first and third Tuesday of every month from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Chemical Bank North receives state housing development award

Chemical Bank North of Grayling received an award from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) for their production in the agency's home improvement lending program.

Approximately 230 lending institutions and communities take part in the program throughout Michigan. Fifty-two received awards.

Since 1978, the Authority has invested more than $114.5 million in loans to more than 20,000 homeowners. MSHDA home improvement program director Robert Brown said.

The loans, which are financed from the sale of bonds and not from state tax dollars, carry interest rates of one to nine percent based on family income.

About one-third of the loans have gone to senior citizens. Two-thirds of the homes being improved are more than 35 years old.

The improvements most frequently financed through the MSHDA program are insulation, storm windows and doors, roofing, room additions, and upgrading of heating, plumbing, and electrical systems.

Homeowners with a maximum annual income of $36,500 can borrow as much as $15,000 and take up to 15 years to repay the loan. They may hire

Question: I often see references to WIC coupons in the local grocery stores. What are WIC coupons and who is eligible for them?

Answer: WIC is a special supplemental food program for Women, Infants, and Children. The program provides wholesome foods for pregnant and nursing women, infants up to age one, and children age two up to the fifth birthday who have certain medical or nutritional requirements (under weight, low iron, etc.). Participants in the WIC program attend educational classes on nutrition. They also receive coupons for free nutritional foods such as milk, fruit juice, cheese, peanut butter, and cereal.

To apply for WIC, your total yearly income must be at a certain level. The new income level as of April, 1992, are:

family size	yearly income cannot be above:
1	$12,599
2	17,002
3	21,405
4	25,808
5	30,211
6	34,614
7	39,017
8	43,420

If you would like to take part in the WIC food program and want to find out if you are eligible, call the Health Department in your area and ask for information on becoming a WIC client. The WIC staff will be happy to answer all your questions about the program. Crawford County has several openings available for new WIC clients and pregnant women in this area are encouraged to attend.

ADVANCED STUDIES HELPS SHELTER--Grayling High School Advanced Studies students Dan Jurkovich (11), Nick Stancil (9), Max Thompson (10) and Danyell Galvani (9) hang the sign the class designed and painted for the Animal Shelter of Crawford County.

ASC instructor is Kym Inabinet. Lee Taylor (9) designed the sign and Jeff Taylor (9), the dog logo. Mike Amman (9), Katey DeVries (10), Brian Dunckley (9), Bob Hebel (12), Jurkovich, Ken Sands (11), Travis Patrick (9), Tom Mason (9), Stancil, Sarah Woodland (9) and Jason Westervelt (9) fabricated and painted the sign.

Stancil said the class made the sign because the animal shelter is required by state law to have one stating its hours and telephone number. The old sign was insufficient and the shelter lacked the funds for a new one. Stancil said the class also helped rake the grounds and clean the shelter after school.

BRINGING OUTDOORS CLOSER--Pictured above is Mrs. June Ginther with Mrs. Dean's 2nd grade and Mrs. Hough's 3rd grade at Frederic Elementary demonstrating forest plants found in Michigan. These plants were used for food and medicine by Native Americans. Many still are used today such as wintergreen (chewing gum and medicine) and witch hazel. The children were able to touch, smell and sometimes taste the plants she brought. They tried mint tea and wintergreen candy.

MILLAGE REQUIRED
The millage required to complete the estimated $24,500,000 project would be 3.28 mills for 30 years.

"This would take care of all the needs of all the buildings. We wouldn't be coming back to bother the voters again," said Reynolds.

An additional 2.2 mills to fund the operation of the new building would be levied, probably beginning in 1994-95.

If passed in the September election, the tax levy would go into effect for December 1992 taxes. From then on, the millage would be levied only on June taxes.

The average Crawford County homeowner, living in a home valued around $44,000, would pay about $121 per year—or $10 a month—for the proposed project.

On an $121 tax bill, anyone qualifying for the "Circuit Breaker" (Home-Stepped Property Tax rebate) would pay only $48. Some senior citizens (whose property taxes are more than 3 1/2% of their income) would not pay anything. "An important point to remember is that this is four times the money we asked for in the last (failed) bond issue," said Reynolds. "And it allows for a 20% growth rate. Currently we have seven classrooms at most grade levels. This would allow for eight."

According to 1990 census figures, Crawford County grew by 29.5% between 1980 and 1990. This increase in population from 9,465 to 12,260 in ten years represented one of the fastest growth rates in Michigan.

The new facilities would be "matched by no school district in northern Michigan and comparable to Gaylord's, even though there are only 18 school districts—out of 559 total—with less money per student than CASD," said Reynolds.

If the school board decides to move ahead with the bond proposal, its next step is to form a campaign committee to refine and finalize the project's many components.

The election—if approved—would be scheduled for September 26, the last Saturday of the month.

July Fourth parade cancelled

The parade scheduled for July 4th has been cancelled because less than 20 entries were signed up.

All the other activities sponsored by the Grayling Youth Booster Club are set to go as planned. (See schedule listed in this issue.)

The Crawford County Avalanche

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

It's History

Like the clouds that cross the sky above
The days of our lives slip by
Once they're gone, they're gone forever
Though we often wonder why

We can look back on our yesterdays
And see things we did right or wrong
But there's no way we can change our yesterdays
For to history they now belong

For each day that passes is history
And tomorrow may or may not be
Trying to recapture those days now past
Seems like the work of a fool to me

Let go of the past and grab the future
For that's where all the action is at
Place your bets and take your chances
Don't just look on like a lazy cat

Maybe looking back at the past will offer insight
On how to solve the problem you face today
But don't be afraid to try a different approach
If you can figure out a better way

Yesterday is gone forever, and tomorrow never comes
There is only today to live our life
Trying to live today in the past or future
Only leads to a lot of strife

The past belongs to history
The future to generations yet unborn
Today is ours to live and serve others
For which we thank the Lord each morn

Poet's Corner

To the GHS Class of 1970,

Twas the year '66
A change was in store
St. Mary's and Frederic would now be
No more

A rare breed of Freshman
Would join in this mess
To be the first that would pass through
This "new" GHS

Some felt pressure upon them
Some felt fear — some felt sick
As you were the first ones
To make this thing stick

But you bonded quite quickly
The story is told
And those friendships would last
For years to unfold

Types of friends didn't matter
There were jocks, there were "hoods"
And you tried not to judge
Between the "should not's" and "should's"

There was football and b'ball
Some had parts in a play
And if you lost your direction
A "star" showed the way

Some had choir, some band
And you most held a chair
But when you wanted "real" music
You'd listen to "HAIR"

Not all were big standouts
Not all cheered or played hoop
But you all were included
In this special group

You spoke strangely back then
Being "cool" meant you're "hot"
Now the lingo seems different
The talk has changed NOT!

There was "groovy" and "peace"
There was "by the way" and
Well, words that continued
To give your folks fits

You passed through the fads
Granny glasses, tie-dyed
Of course there's the mini-skirt
And all were wide-eyed

There were bell-bottom trousers
Paisley was "keen"
And the cut-offs you wore
From a faded blue jean

There were hippies and love-ins
Peace rallies, not mobs
And a "sit-in" for you
Was an evening at BOB'S

Your parties were simple
No invitation, no card
You didn't need much
Just someone's backyard

You sang and you danced
The gator — not bump
And when nighttime would come
There was always the dump

Homecoming was big
Pictures filled a collage
But your floats never won
You'd never find a garage

At times you got bored
The days would seem slow
So a road trip to 'Cheney
And off you would go

There was the lake in the summer
Drive-in movies to pick
With Juji Fruit candies
That surely would stick

There were trips to T.C.
Now you marvel the view
As those cherry trees grew
From the pits that you threw

At times there was problems
Not all could you please
And for the special "someone"
There was Limburger cheese

You weren't ready for "first love"
And the pain it would bring
But to do it all over
Most would not change a thing

So time kept on ticking
Father Time had no reason
And that last year of hard work
Brought your championship season

Then came time you would move on
You each had a goal
But the loss of those days
Were to tug at your soul

There were years you saw no one
Your own lives superseded
But you'd pick up where you left off
No apologies needed

This rare type of friendship
Known only by few
That when sadness hits one
It affects each of you

Then you had a reunion
There was joy, there were tears
But it seemed just like yesterday
After all of those years

You're a strange group of people
To maintain such a flow
Of loyalty that began
A generation ago

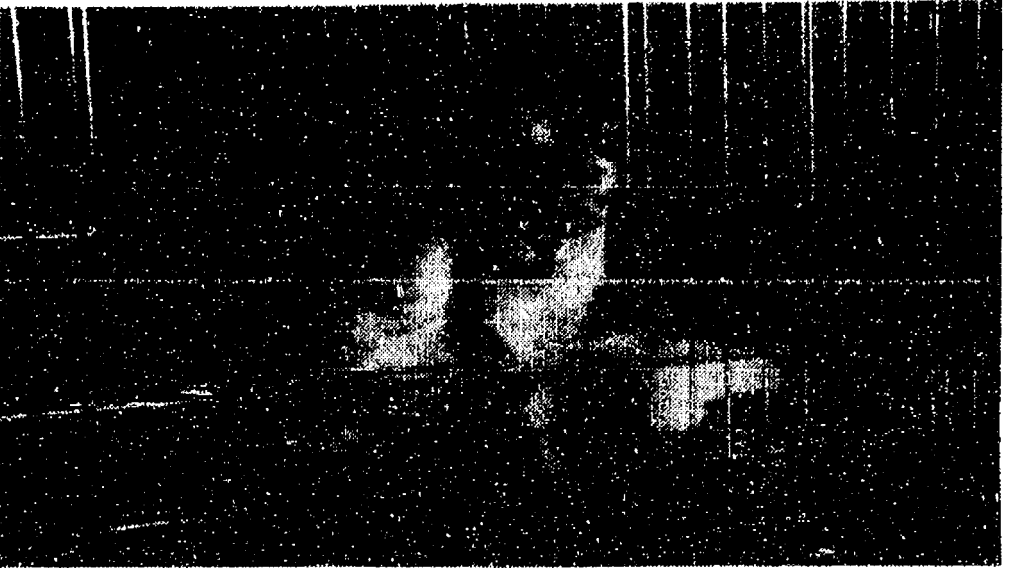

Though you tried, some felt slighted
It's sad, but it's true
With no malice intended
"This one's for you"

You've reached another chapter
Yesterday's problems seem 'nill
Now you face a new challenge
"You're Over the Hill"

You've hit the big 4-0
No secret that's true
But thanks for the memories
I'm proud to be
ONE OF YOU!

Happy 40th to all

SCHEHERAZADE TELLS TALES--This blue-eyed lynx point Siamese cat was named Scheherazade by the animal shelter staff because "she talks to us all the time, telling us 1,000 tales a day," said Dixie Lobsinger, manager. She is now pregnant and in need of a home that would welcome her and her kittens.

Lobsinger added that there are cats "coming out of my ears" at the shelter also in need of adoption. Call 348-4117 for information on available pets or visit the Animal Shelter at Crawford County on M-72 East, Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-4 p.m., and Sundays, 8-11 a.m.

Pet Care Tip

It should be about time for your dog's second heartworm preventive pill, if you are on the once-a-month tablet plan. Don't forget to treat your pet. Heartworm is fatal if left untreated, but the disease is easy to prevent. Also, remember it is vital that your dog be given a blood test by your veterinarian before being put on preventive medication.

The Bible Speaks

From The
Calvary Baptist Church

Religious Trends

The Russian Ministry of Education has approved a two year program permitting 65,000 elementary and secondary schools in the Russian Republic to receive Bibles, 46 Bible study lessons on Christian values for children, plus many other Christian books and literature from America. With dialectical materialism leaving them in ruin, many are repenting of atheism and turning back to God.

The National Council and World Council of Churches by joining hands with Marxist revolutionaries, have wasted millions of dollars and perverted their message. In America, they are now pushing pagan pantheism through B'nai Noah. Support for the moral and ethical values of this "new" religion has been approved by a joint resolution of both houses of congress, and signed by the president. U. S. citizens were urged to "return the world to the moral and ethical values contained in the seven Noahide Laws." These laws of oral tradition were declared to be the "bedrock of society from the dawn of civilization." These oral traditions are not based upon the authority of Holy Scripture.

The "green" religion of ecology is also replacing the "red" of communism and the "pink" of liberalism. As someone has described this new dogma: "The earth is our mother. Industrial civilization is a desecration, a sin for which atonement may be made by genuflecting to the nearest rain forest." Today, we are being bombarded with the danger of global warming as the most imminent catastrophe facing our planet.

About 20 years ago when we first moved to Grayling, most climatologists were predicting the return of the ice age. Some blamed this on particulate matter in the atmosphere from volcanic ash to manmade pollutants which were deflecting the sunlight and heat away from the earth. They suggested back then a deliberate melting of polar ice, strict pollution regulation, and the stockpiling of food to help humans face the extensive glaciation. These "green" people cannot decide if our earth will freeze us or bake us. One thing they knew for sure, "green" government must control all of us.

Many U.S. leaders in religion and politics are abandoning the Judeo-Christian foundation of America. "The wise [men] are ashamed, they are dismayed and taken: lo, they have rejected the word of the LORD; and what wisdom [is] in them?" (JER 8:9). "To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, [it is] because [there is] no light in them." (ISA 8:20). Must America fall into chaos like Russia before we repent of our sins and return to God? What price revival in America? When will you and I be ready for that revival to begin with us, in Grayling?

Ministerial Assoc. requests monies for hero's expenses

Heroism is a blessing to any community. The people of Crawford County are blessed with many heroes in fellows citizens who go out of their way to be present in times of need.

On June 13 a fellow citizen jumped into the river at the city park to help a youngster who was in danger of drowning. In the process Mrs. Sylvia Osborne was injured and incurred a sizable medical bill.

It has come to the attention of the AuSable Ministerial Association that her medical expenses are not covered by insurance. So we are inviting our churches and community to contribute to a fund to meet these expenses.

Sunday, July 12, is Good Samaritan Sunday. We invite the community to make a contribution to your church that day for this fund or send checks directly to Father Derik Roy, St. Francis Episcopal Church, Grayling. The monies received will be used to meet the medical bills; and, if there is extra, for other emergencies in the community as they arise.

Lovells News

Senior Citizen Day will be on Friday, June 26, at the town hall, blood pressures taken at 11:30 a.m. and dinner at 12 noon.

Church Directory

Some say God can be found just as well in a garden, in the woods, or on a golf course as in a church or synagogue. God is everywhere. But, be honest about it. Aren't you more apt to think of weeds that need to be pulled, or mosquitoes, or a poor shot than you are of God?
But when you visit your church or synagogue, it is with the specific intention of worshiping. Here you engage in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Here you mingle with people who are seeking God and have come to feel His presence. In the quiet beauty of His house you find few outside distractions, and you know that this place is dedicated to the service of God.
For peace and happiness which comes from really feeling God's presence, worship in the house of the Lord this week. Make it a regular practice.

Woodland wins Good Neighbor Award

Judy Woodland of Grayling, was selected as winner of the fourth annual Empire National Bank Good Neighbor Award in recognition for her service to others.

James E. Dutmers, Jr., Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Traverse City-based bank, said the award was instituted in 1989 to recognize people who volunteer their time and energy to serve others.

Each recipient of the award was given a plaque and the Bank made a $500 donation to the charity or charities of their choice. The winners were chosen from nominations made by local service agencies and individuals. The awards were made at Empire National Bank's annual shareholders' meeting.

"Each individual or couple was chosen for a special reason," Dutmers said. Judy Woodland joined the board of directors of the Crawford County United Way in 1984 and has been secretary of the board since 1986. In this capacity, she has maintained records on every agency ever funded, provided the documentation to enable fund-raising campaigns to be successful, assisted with the United Way Auction, and given countless hours of dedicated service in keeping the United Way office in order.

Summer should provide plenty of opportunities for amateur photographers to capture on film images to enter in the second annual photo contest sponsored by the Crawford-Roscommon Soil and Water Conservation District.

Categories are conservation, agriculture, forestry, landscaping/gardening, wildlife, and wetlands/shorelines. Deadline for entries is December 1. Winners will be announced at the district's annual meeting next February. The contest is open to resident of all ages of Crawford and Roscommon counties.

Winners will receive prizes and their work will be displayed in various public places.

Color or black-and-white photos taken in Roscommon or Crawford County may be entered. Only one photo may be entered per category, but photographers may enter more than one category. No marking is permitted on the front or back of the photos, which will become the property of the district.

Judging for a total of 18 prizes will be in three age groups. Photographers ages 13 and under may submit any size photo. Those in the 14-18 age category and adults must submit photos at least five by seven inches.

Entry forms and information are available at the district office, 409 Lake St., Roscommon, telephone 275-5231.

We think that you'll find almost anything through the classifieds. 2nd Annual Pledge Relay raises $8,500 for Marathon

The 2nd annual AuSable River Marathon Pledge Relay raised approximately $8,500—more than last year's inaugural attempt.

Low water slowed the teams from Grayling and cold and foggy weather hampered the Oscoda paddlers. The two canoes paddled by volunteers and the canoe paddled by Glen's Markets associates took about 27 hours to reach Lake Huron and Oscoda from Grayling.

The team of Debbie and John Cher-ven raised the most money among the volunteer teams, $780 in pledges for the marathon.

All the money raised goes toward the 1992 AuSable Marathon held July 25-26. This year the race is offering $38,000 in cash and prizes—the largest canoeing purse in North America.

In the relay sprints held from Ray's to Penrods and back upstream, eight teams participated with Weyerhaeuser winning first place. The Weyerhaeuser team of Fred Fisher, Jr., Bill Torongo, RaeAnn Schanz, and Don Schanz had a time of 8 minutes and 43 seconds.

Second place went to the Grayling State Bank team of Fred Fisher, Dick Albee, Arnold Bader, and John Alef with a time of 9:54.

Third place went to the Ray's Canoe Livery team of Jeff Welkie, Nick Hebekeuser, Mark Andrus, and Ralph Oppermann with 10:07.

Next was an Avalanche team of Dana Anderson, Sharon Lynch, Jon

Thompson, and Jason Thompson with 10:20.

Next was a Glen's Market team of Greg Hanes, Toc Ockerman, Jeanne Krays, and Chad Gorman with 10:34.

Next was a WGRY team of Trent Black, Rebecca Raines, Dave Cooper, and Dave Sherbert with 12:06.

Next was a WQON team of Mark Cherven, Kevin Graham, John Smock, and Dan Hively with 12:16.

Last was a WUPS team of Tammy Thompson, Brian Roberts, Paul Watson, and Denise Jeroswick with 12:51.

Meldrum earns doctor of medicine degree

Daniel R. Meldrum of Grayling, received his doctor of medicine degree from Michigan State University June 12. Meldrum earned his degree in human medicine and was among 85 graduates receiving doctor of medicine degrees.

LEADER DOG SCHOOL GRADUATE--Allie, a German shepherd from Deborah A. Robinson's NorthStar Shepherds Kennel, has graduated from Leader Dog classes and is serving Jose Espinoza of Kansas.

AuSable relay race needs teams to enter

The time is near for Grayling's second most exciting race. The 4th annual AuSable Relay Race, upstream from Penrod's to Ray's and back, offers more fun, smiles, and racing for ordinary people than can be found for hundreds of miles around.

Again, local businesses, organizations, agencies, offices, and consortiums are encouraged to respond to the call of the river. The requirements are the four semi-willing participants (two must be from the organization) and ten minutes of time to challenge the AuSable. Thursday, July 23, 4:30 to 7 p.m. is the date and time of the race.

Last year's event was an upset of sorts, with the Rotary Club defeating the youngsters from Penrod's by two seconds for the overall. As is obvious from the results and classes listed below, there is a class and challenge for everyone:

Men's Class
Grayling Rotary	10:31
Penrod's	10:33
K of C #2	10:58

Oscoda Race Committee 11:49
Weyerhaeuser #1 11:52
Weyerhaeuser #2 12:36
Mercy Hospital 12:38
Grayling State Bank 14:51

The race organizers have heard from fairly reliable sources that GSB and Ray's Canoe have been training for a comeback and truly hope many organizations can field a team for this year's event. If any team wishes to be paired against a more favorite competitor, they will do what they can to make that happen.
